Business Reports

In 2014, the performance and development of the world economy varied, influences included America's financial problems, the political uncertainty in the Middle East and the irresolution of the European deficit crisis. These indefinite factors still persist. In spite of the Eurozone sovereign debt crisis easing slightly, the unemployment rate has not improved in this period of time. Retrenchment expenses have resulted in insufficient demand and an inflation crisis. The Japanese government has improved financial structures in order to increase consumption tax due to the degrading effect of economic change. Mainland China's adjustments to its economic structure has also resulted in the slow growth of domestic investment. These factors have resulted in the performance of economic figures falling below the targets set by the respective authorities. However, the stable economic recovery of the United States has provided the main momentum in increasing global economic growth.

Benefitted by the stock market performance turning good, the current deposits in the domestic banks have increased and the limitation of overseas financial business have been canceled. These factors led to a large increase being made in savings of foreign currencies and Chinese Yuan. The Central Bank of the Republic of China has calculated the balance of monetary financial institutions at 36.53 trillion, the highest recorded in its history. In terms of profitability, due to the economic boom and increased overseas profits, the before-tax profit accumulated is 320.1 billion dollars, compared to 257.6 billion dollars in the year 2013. The return on assets (ROA) and return on equity (ROE) increased 0.79 percent and 11.65 percent respectively. These facts indicate that bank asset quality remains in good order and that profitability performance is above the long-term average standard.

Chairperson of the Board
Shiu, Kuang-Si

In addition, the non-performing loans ratio in the year 2014 reached their lowest point. The average ratio being 0.24 percent. The coverage rate of allowance for uncollectable accounts has risen to 516.38 percent. Domestic banks have made a good profit in the year 2014. The before-tax profit has hit a record high and banks have also maintained their good financial quality. The reduction of non-performing loans ratio to their lowest point demonstrates the excellent ability of banking management to promote the business, expand the market in the future and lay solid foundations.

In compliance with government policies, and due to the excellent leadership of the management team and the dedication of its staff, the Bank was able to respond flexibly to market conditions, adjusting operating strategies and sustaining steady sales volume growth. The Bank has made a before-tax profit of 11.581 billion dollars since the year 2014 and has continued to break its records in terms of profit, earning more than 10 billion dollars. The non-performing loan ratio is 0.19 percent and the coverage rate for uncollectable accounts is 735.43 percent, better than the average value. Business operation volume has also seen stable growth. The business review of 2014 and business plan for 2015 is outlined below:

IV Influences on the Environment of External Competition, Acts and Comprehensive Management

(I) Environment of External Competition and Comprehensive Management

In recent years, the profits that the domestic banks have gained have grown high. However, the domestic market is small with a lot of competition. It has become a trend to leave Taiwan and establish overseas markets. Our banks develop more maturely than Mainland Chinese banks. We have a greater capability to deal with financial crisis management, fixing a price for corporation finance and consumer finance and credit analysis, the promotion of financial instruments and professional cultivation than the banks of Mainland China. Despite the rise of the Asian economy and regional economic integration, our banks are still superior and flexible in supplying our customers with transnational financial services. However, we are facing the problem in which the salaries of senior executives of banks in Mainland China are greater than comparable salaries here, leading to our banking experts leaving for Mainland China. This clearly indicates the importance of dealing immediately with the loss of our banking experts.

(II) Acts Environment

- » In March, 2014, the Financial Supervisory Commission, R.O.C (Taiwan) initiated Free Economic Pilot Zones. It mainly focuses on the opening of Offshore Banking Units, dealing with financial business and using negative listings which are beneficial in promoting more innovative products, and bringing money into our country to create new customers and revenues.
- » In July, 2014, the Financial Supervisory Commission, R.O.C (Taiwan) produced “Directions for Banks Conducting Financial Derivatives Business” which deals with providing assistance to customers and overseas financial organizations by providing advice and step-by-step information relating to each transaction. Increases the Bank's understanding about the variety in the issue market for international financial instruments. Boost the development of financial instruments of our domestic banks in order to gradually attract more professional institutional investors to utilize the service provided by domestic financial organizations.

- » In September, 2014, the Financial Supervisory Commission, R.O.C (Taiwan) allowed business customers and business owners to open offshore bank accounts in order to check and sign documents, and verify identity to achieve "Opening Offshore Bank Account and Verifying Identity in a Domestic bank". Customers can open deposit accounts or wealth management accounts without giving credit restrictions. These services benefit domestic banks with overseas branches.
- » In September, 2014, the Central Bank announced that overseas branches of domestic banks can now apply for the service of Non-Delivery Forward of New Taiwan Dollars. This service will enlarge the business domain of overseas branches of domestic banks. It is expected that corporate clients will transfer their Non-Delivery Forward business from the overseas branch of foreign banks to domestic banks.
- » In September, 2014, the Central Bank built up the RMB Offshore Center and initiated the price fixing mechanism of CNT and interest rate, in order to set up the yield curve on the USD/RMB exchange rate, and the fixing price and assessment price of financial derivatives which will benefit the expansion of overseas business and enhance the opportunities for cooperation between Taiwanese and foreign business with our domestic banks.

To sum up, the global economic growth rate for 2015 is higher than 2014, which is expected to influence the domestic economy to advance, increase business capital demand and investment intention in markets, to sustain the bank loan business and maintain its growth, and to enhance the wealth management business markets. The Financial Supervisory Commission, R.O.C (Taiwan) and the Central Bank have permitted a gradual lessening of the restrictions on credit extension in accordance with the demand of overseas market and RMB business. These services are necessary for the bank's operation as well as for boosting competitiveness, gaining multiple sources of profit, and increasing the bankers' profits. Additionally, the trend of increasing interest rate and supervisory units strengthens its functions on monitoring and managing business, reducing excessive price-cutting competition, and better interest margins are expected to be beneficial in increasing the profits of the banks in the year 2015.

I . History

The history of the Land Bank of Taiwan dates from 1945 when World War II came to an end. To facilitate implementation of land policies such as land-rights equalization and the land-to-the-tiller program in Taiwan, the government appropriated funds from the national treasury as capital to establish the "Land Bank of Taiwan" in accordance with the R.O.C. law on September 1, 1946 based on the five branches of Nippon Kangyo Bank consecutively set up in Taipei, Hsinchu, Taichung, Tainan and Kaohsiung since 1922, making the Bank the only domestic specialized bank that handled real estate. In May 1985, the Land Bank of Taiwan became qualified as a juristic person pursuant to Article 52 of the Banking Act; the Bank was later changed to a state-run organization on December 21, 1998 upon implementation of the Taiwan Province Simplification Statute; it was reorganized as "Land Bank of Taiwan Co., Ltd." on July 1, 2003, and was further transformed into a public company on May 21, 2004. In order to expand operating areas, the Land Bank of Taiwan transferred to investment and set up the Land Bank of Taiwan's Subsidiary Insurance Broker Corporation on June 3, 2013 which then opened for business on October 31, 2013.

 - a. Compared to the annual report of 2013, the annual report of 2014 showed the Bank had three more legal cases brought against it, these included defrauding subsidies of employees in foreign branches, diverted customers’ savings or careless mistakes of transmitting customers’ information etc. These cases reflect the need for the Bank to enhance internal controls. It is suggested that the Board of Directors and senior management should improve the internal control system thoroughly, and develop internal control function operations.
 - b. Financial intermediaries played an important role in the provision and allocation of capital in economic activities. The financial industry should consider how to use this distribution network to allocate economic resources to assist other industries in carrying out their corporate social responsibility. The recent food safety scandals and environmental pollution problems have made people realize the high risk of financial institutions providing funding to bad businesses. It has been suggested that the Equator Principles should be placed into the Bank’s governance code of practice or the code of extended credit finance. In this way, the Bank could evaluate whether the each financing case has considered the sustainable development of the economy, society and environment.
 - c. In terms of social responsibility, the suggestion is that the Bank could consider combining its professional expertise with social responsibility which would demonstrate uniqueness and create more social value. Also, the Bank could reflect on how to combine finance with business startups and alternative energy.

Analysis of changes in financial ratios for the past 2 years (increase/decrease over 20%):

Compared to 2013, the cash flow and cash flow adequacy ratio for 2014 increased, mainly because in 2014 the net cash flows from operating activities increased. When compared to 2013, the cash flow sufficiency ratio decreased mainly because in 2014 the net cash flows were from operating activities and investment activities which led to a positive ratio. In addition, in 2014, the cash flow moved into operating activities, however, the cash from the move out of investment activities led to a negative ratio.
